CV tips

Write a special CV for Karriärum where you are clear about what you are looking for and what kind of job are you looking for, are you looking for IPC/NFK, final thesis connections, or an extra job. If you are looking for IPC/NFK or final thesis connections, it is with high importance that you include the period you are applying.

When writing your CV, remember that you should not write about yourself as a person, but rather about your experience and knowledge.

When you describe your education, describe in detail what you study and what you learned, for example, is there any particular software that you have learned and can benefit from.

If you have already had your internship, it is of high importance that you clarify what you have done, what experiences you have gained from it, and what role you have had.

References are included in the CV on request.

Please include a link to your LinkedIn profile.

Once you have written your CV, you can always have it reviewed by Career Center. They check for example so that everything you bring is necessary and relevant. You don't have to have a photo on your CV, but in Sweden companies prefer it.

Goodie bags

The goodie bags will be filled with a lot of nice stuff from the companies. There will be a limited amount of goodie bags, so if you want one, be on time.

Karriärum tips

Remember that a first impression is made within the first 7 seconds of an interaction.

So go through the list of companies attending Karriärum and select the ones you are most interested in and prepare an elevator pitch, why you and why that company?

Karriärarum tips

Another tip is to go through and select companies that are in your field so that you have a checklist of all the companies you should visit during the fair. Make sure to also include companies that might be unexpected choices for you or maybe not your top picks because you never know what they might have in store for you.

Try to stand out from the crowd and make a lasting impression by engaging with the people in the booths, asking questions, and being genuinely interested in what they have to offer. This is also a sure way to make future connections.

A handy tool to help cultivate and make lasting connections is LinkedIn, so if you don't already have an account make sure to register and set up your profile before the fair. If you already do have an account, then make sure that your profile is updated and attractive, and appealing to companies.

Karriärarum tips

Don't be afraid to be yourself during the fair, and don't just follow the crowd or your friends around. Approach the companies you find interesting and do so alone to get a lot more out of the interaction if you talk to the companies by yourself.

Make sure to create an account on JobTeaser before Karriärarum and upload your CV as this will enable all the companies at the fair to take part in your CV. It will also be possible through JobTeaser to book one on one sessions with some of the companies to have longer, more meaningful conversations about the opportunities that you might present for one another.

Most importantly, don't forget to have fun during the fair!
