

Contract of liability regarding the use of Jönköping University's computer, network and system resources

This contract of liability is a supplement to the contract of liability for your personal user account.

You are responsible for all use of your function account, such as which persons are given access to it and the routines for its use and for ensuring that details such as your password are kept secret.

You are entitled to use the account for the duration of your assignment. If you leave the assignment for which the function account is intended, you must inform the IT Helpdesk, at which point a replacement will be found or the account terminated.

Any breach of the contract of liability and its associated regulations will be followed up.

You agree to comply with the contract of liability and the regulations that supplement it. If you do not agree to comply with these regulations, the account will be terminated.

This contract of liability is supplemented with regulations that can be found on <http://ju.se/ansvar>. You agree to keep yourself updated with any changes to this contract of liability and its associated regulations. Notification of changes are made at least two weeks before such changes come into effect.